FRANCE DECLARES WAR ON AUSTRIA TODAY

FOLLOWS FAILURES OF AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT TO EXPLAIN MOVEMENT THROUGH SWITZERLAND.

BATTLE IMPENDS AT NAMUR

French and German Armies are Mobilizing to Help Belgians Resist Attack of Germans

FIGHTING ALONG FRONTIER

French are Successful in Lorraine and Germans are Driven Back in Southern Alsace

GERMANS HALT AT LIEGE

British War Minister Today Indicates he Expects Harder Fight. Second Volunteer Call

BULLETIN.

(By United Press.)

Paris, August 10.—France formally declared war on Austria tonight. The declaration follows the failures of the Austrian government to make satisfactory explanations of the movement of Austrian troops from the Austrian tyrol through Switzerland to the Alsactian border.

(By United Press.)

London, August 10.—Alsace and Belgium monopolize the attention of the world today. In Belgium the lines are being rapidly drawn for the greatest battle in modern times. The censorship is very tight but it is known that a great British and French army is mobilizing to aid the Belgians to retain Namur. Meanwhile there is fighting along the entire frontier of Lorraine and the French are operating in force against the Germans in southern Alsace with uninterrupted success so far.

The announcement that the battle fleet had sunk a German submarine U-15 has definitely located the British fleet. It must be somewhere near the German naval base at Heligoland. For the U-15 had a very limited steaming area and was designed for coast defense work exclusively. This means that the German war fleet is bottled up and that the British fleet is now constantly subject to attack by torpedo boats, destroyers and submarines.

Not a single word is permitted to leak regarding the movements of the British troops but it is known many are now on the continent. Others are enroute in transport fleets, well escorted. They will be first heard from when they clash with the Germans in supporting the French and Belgians.

Announcement was made in the commons late today that Earl Kitchener, the minister of war, has ordered the enlistment of a second volunteer army of 100,000 men. This shows, at least, that Kitchener does not accept the early German reverses as indicating that Germany will be overwhelmed. Instead he looks

Militants Set Free

London, August 10.—Immediately following the announcement in the house of commons this afternoon by Home Secretary McKenna that King George had ordered released from prison all women convicted of militancy the women announced reciprocal measures. The officials of the Women's Freedom League declared that from now on they would abandon militant tactics. In their stead they will substitute a plan whereby the league will take the lead in the relief of the women and children victims of the present war.

for more serious fighting in which all of the allies will now be strained before the German arms can be eliminated

Announcement that the kaiser had gone to Aix La Chappelle is not accepted here to mean he will command in person the German army of invasion.

Brussels dispatches today agreed at that the Germans at Liege had halted their advance presumably to await the arrival of reinforcement

WAR TAX IN U.S. IS INEVITABLE

Reduction of Imports by One-Third by European War Makes Levy Look Necessary

LEADERS ADMIT IT TODAY

Impression is Stamp Tax Like That Used in Spanish-American War Will be Imposed

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 10.—Although the United States is at peace, legislative leaders today admitted levying of a "war tax" is inevitable.

Prospects that the European conflict will be prolonged and that it will materially reduce for years to come, the imports of this country, make it necessary to adopt emergency measures for the raising of revenues.

Majority Leader Underwood, author of the new tariff law, admits that the falling off in the imports from Europe will be such that congress must begin to think of other means of bringing in money. Underwood said today that no definite plan

GERMANS PUT ON DEFENSIVE

French and Belgian Cavalry, Supported by Artillery and Infantry, Attack Army of Meuse

PENETRATE ENEMIES LINE

Fighting at Liege, Where Germans Occupy City, Today Consists in Long-Range Artillery Duel

(By United Press.)

Brussels, August 10.—The war office announced at six o'clock tonight that reports of the fall of Liege were absolutely untrue. "All forts about Liege are still intact," it says, "and can hold out indefinitely. The allied French-Belgian army is advancing, driving Germans before it. Germans in Liege are unable to advance southward because forts command roads. Allied troops are also moving to attack German reinforcements coming from Cologne."

(By United Press.)

Brussels, August 10.—French and Belgian cavalry supported, by field artillery and mounted infantry, are today attacking the German army north of the Meuse. They are reported here to have penetrated the German line of communication at several points, torn up bridges and destroyed the railroad tracks so that the German army corps at Liege are in danger of being cut off.

Fighting at Liege itself, the war office says, is confined to a long range artillery duel between the forts of the fortifications. The Germans have abandoned the plan of carrying the forts by storm. They claim here the forts can hold out indefinitely as they are well supplied with food and ammunition.

Communications with Liege is still interrupted although it is admitted the city is now held by the Germans. The forts are still held by the Belgians, according to the war office and can hold out indefinitely.

Despite this confident claim, rumors are in circulation that some at least of the forts have been taken by the enemy.

The main body of the Belgian army which was at Liege withdrew successfully. Its position is not announced but it is supposed to have fallen back on Namur where British and French reinforcements were reported to have been waiting.

General Von Emmich, in command of the German army of the Neuse was among the first to enter Liege. He was escorted by a large detachment of cavalry and the first act was to principal official of the city of Liege. The general then issued a proclamation declaring that any further participation in the fighting by Belgians not affiliated with the army would be followed by their execution and the burning of their homes.

Most of the Belgian residents of Liege had already fled, having realized almost from the outset of the fighting that the capture of the city was a certainty.

That the German advance will clash with the main defense at Namur almost immediately is certain. An enormous German army is concentrating for this purpose but its movements are cloaked by a cavalry screen that is operating in the territory between Liege and Namur.

The Belgian officials say all of the forts still hold out against the invaders. They are compelled to operate independently and can no longer figure materially in opposing the German advance. It is expected that a German force will besiege them while

MUSIC CLOSES THE ASSEMBLY

Postlude by the Oxfords, Popular Quartet, Brings Chautauqua to Pleasant End Sunday Night.

LECTURES BY W. O. SHEPARD

His Creed is That all Things Are Held in Common and That Man's Title to Goods is Worthless

IS AHEAD FINANCIALLY

It is stated today that the Rush county chautauqua will come out ahead between $100 and $200 this year. With two exceptions, band day and the closing day, the crowds were better than last year. There were not so many season tickets sold this year, which reduced the proceeds from that source. Next year there will be twenty more guarantors, each to take ten tickets each. This will bring the total of guarantors' tickets issued up to twelve hundred.

The Rush county chautauqua closed last night with a lecture by Bishop W. O. Shepard of St. Louis and a postlude by the Oxfords, a mixed quartet which made a most pronounced impression during its two days stay here. The Coliseum was packed last night, but in the afternoon seats were not at a premium. Rain threatened all afternoon and probably kept many people away.

The Oxfords are one of the most popular musical organizations ever at the chautauqua. The best testimonial to their popularity was the number of requests made yesterday for the repetition of numbers sung Saturday. They attracted the largest Saturday night crowd ever at the chautauqua when they sang a version of the light opera "The Mikado."

Bishop Shepard spoke last night on "Unlimited Riches." He asserted that all things God made are ours and that riches do not pertain to worldly goods. He declared that we have joint ownership in all things. Bishop Shepard began by saying that he had investigated suicide statistics lately and found that out of every 100 people dying, one is a suicide and that there is one suicide for every hour in the day.

"I find there are many people," he continued, "who think they are poor in health, opportunity, friends or worldly goods. No one is poor unless he chooses to be. All of us are rich and well to do. Everything God made is ours and if we are unhappy or poor, it is our own fault. We have an idea that all we own is what man gives us title to. But man's titles may burn up or blow away. In poor, distracted Mexico some men, it is said, own titles to as much as two and a half million acres of land. What good is it? Can he eat it? No. Can he walk over it? No. Can he see it? No. The title man gives you is fictitious.

"The best things in this world we never own exclusively. We own them in common. Every sermon preached by every minister of every denomination is for me and for you. All people are working for me—and for you. All reformers are working for me—and for you, that is if I care for civilization than I do my personal affairs, and I do. The Republicans are working for me (It may be a little hard for me to say some of these things but I guess I can) all Democrats are working for me, and

WAR HAS EFFECT ON FOOD STAPLES

Marked Increase is Noted Already Because of Conflict on Other Side of Atlantic

COFFEE AND BEANS ARE UP

Price of Sugar Jumps Ninety Cents a Hundred and Spring Wheat Flour is Costlier

The first effect on the price of foodstuffs as the result of the European war is being felt in Rushville right now. The prediction that a general war across the Atlantic would cause a raise in the price of food staples on this side is being fulfilled.

Compared with the prices the same time last week, sugar, coffee, beans and spring wheat flour are higher. The first marked jump came when local grocers received word from wholesalers that all coffee, whether bulk or package, had advanced. Today it is one to two cents a pound higher than it was last week. The high grade coffee is a cent higher and the lower grades two cents.

That there will be further advances soon, is the expectation, as trade reports state that coffee growers are holding the grain they have on hands from five to ten cents higher than they were holding it a week ago.

Another staple that has jumped in price is the bean. All over the world beans are a standard army ration. Beans always go up in war times. Beans are up now, and that they will go much higher is practically certain. The price of beans in this part of the world is controlled by the Michigan Bean Association. This organization has withdrawn quotations on beans. The wholesaler has to buy subject to whatever price may prevail at the time of delivery. The chances are that every grocery store in Rushville will have made a considerable advance in the price of beans before another week passes. The price is now 75 cents a bushel higher than last week.

Sugar, too, is certain to be higher. Quotations on beet sugar have been withdrawn. This was due to the action of England in going into the market and buying everything in sight. England was bidding $5.10 for raw material—unrefined sugar in bags—on the piers in New York. While sugar has advanced here only ten points, it has advanced in New York sixty points. The increase to local grocers is 90 cents a hundred pounds.

As yet there has been no advance in rice. It is the one staple that shows a disposition to remain steady. Flour is showing a tendency to do some ballooning, and meat is manifesting the same sort of symptoms. Meat dealers, however, believe that

REVOLT OF FINNS IS FIGURED ON

If Report is True it Marks as Desperate Attempt as Was Gallop
of Uhlans Into Liege

40,000 SOLDIERS IN FINLAND

Unless to Incite Revolt, Unusual Trip
of Kaiser's Men Can Not be Accounted for

BY J. W. T. MASON

(Former European Manager of the United Press.)

New York, Aug. 10.—The sensational possibility that Germany has begun an attempt to entice Finland
into a revolt against Russia, is contained in the report from Copenhagen that 40,000 German troops
have landed at Ekenas, in Southern Finland.

If the report is true, it marks as desperate a resolve on the part of the Kaiser as was the daring gallop
of the Uhlans into Liege to try to capture the Belgian commander. Forty thousand German soldiers in Finland means a transport journey
of 400 miles across the Baltic sea
with constant danger that British or Russian naval activity will cut the line of communication and isolate
the invaders.

The risk would be too great, and
the force itself too small, if the German general staff contemplated attacking St. Petersburg through Finland. But if the Kaiser has reason to believe the Finns will help him
against their Russian oppressors, his movement of an army corps into Finland becomes inexplicable.

Should the news be true, doubtless
we shall soon hear of a German proclamation promising independence to Finland if the Finns come to the Kaiser's support. An uprising in Finland would be of enormous military
value to Germany but if the Germans
lost the war, the liberties Finland already possesses would be lost as well.

False reports of the capture of Liege, carried by other news services are due to correspondents mistaking street fighting in the city in the presence of the entire German army. A few isolated detachments of Germans occasionally are able to pass between the forts that circle Liege, four to six miles beyond the city. A rush into Liege by the remnant of a regiment devastated by the forts entails hand-to-hand fighting
that must send forth the cry:

"The Germans are in." By the time the alarm reaches America, it has been elaborated in some cases
into the capture of the city.

The massed attack of the Germans
on the Liege forts is described truly
as "an act of heroism" in the official German account of the Liege operations. But, the German General staff
is far from the truth in characterizing the attack as "unique."

During the South African war, the British troops used the same methods in what were called "frontal" attacks. The Boers without modern weapons, and with only Kopjers for their fortresses, drove the British back, time and again. The Belgians in nickel steel forts, directing six inch and 9.7 inch guns against the Germans, are but modernizing the tactics of the late South African burghers. The enormous importance of the capture of Liege to Germany's plan of campaign is indicated by the desperate duplication of Great Britain's fatal assaults against the Boer kopjer.

CHILDREN TO BE IN BATTLE LINE

Will be Prepared October to Make
Combined Assault of Vantage
Points of Enemy Disease

DISEASE PREVENTION DAY

State Superintendent Calls Attention to Plans in Letter to School
Superintendents

Indianapolis, August 10.—An

army of school children, three times
the size of Serbia's armed forces,
will form in battle line in Indiana,
Friday, October 2nd and make a
combined assault on the vantage
points held by their enemy, Disease,
according to plans outlined today
by the Department of Public Instruction.

In a letter to school superintendents throughout the state, Charles
A. Greathouse, superintendent of Public Instruction, calls attention to the plans that are being made for a state wide demonstration on Disease Prevention Day, Friday October 2nd.

Mr. Greathouse refers to the spectacular demonstrations held in Anderson and Princeton a few months ago in which the school children played such an important part and
he urges all school authorities to cooperate to the fullest extent with local committees which may be arranging similar demonstrations. His letter reads as follows:

The Department of Public Instruction desires to call your attention to the fact that on Friday, October 2nd, Indiana will observe "Disease Prevention Day."

On that day hundreds of cities and towns in this state will stage spectacular public demonstrations aimed at preventable disease. In many instances, no doubt, the local committees in charge of the affair will desire to put on a parade or pageant.
Floats which will present interesting pictures of the various phases of the health problem, will of course be entered in these pageants.

On similar occasions at Anderson
and Princeton last spring the schools took an important part. In many instances the pupils formed part of the display on the floats. In each city, thousands of grade and high school students marched by divisions
carrying banners, pennants, placards
etc., which bore printed lessons on
the necessity for conserving the public health.

In view of the expressed wish of the executive committee in charge
of this state wide demonstration, we ask that you co-operate to the fullest extent with your local committee
to the end that the schools in your city make a creditable showing.
With very little difficulty, your pupils
can be marshalled for the parade.
Their presence in the parade will accomplish a two-fold object. It will center their interest on the methods
to be employed for the conservation
of health and it will be the means of attracting their parents to view the parade.

It is our understanding that the day in question will be made a public holiday both by proclamation of the Governor and by the Mayor of your city. The merchants will be asked to make special displays in honor of the occasion. As a further suggestion, you might have some special exercises on preventable disease in the school rooms either before or after the parade. What do you think about it?

Cordially yours,
(CHAS. A. GREATHOUSE.)

BENNETT IS NOT GUILTY

Bebout Makes This Ruling in "Bootlegging" Case Today

Willard Bennett was found not guilty of the charge of "bootlegging" by Mayor Bebout this morning. He had the case under advisement for a week. Bennett was alleged to have sold a quart of whiskey to Charles Graham. The trial was held last week. Graham filed the affidavit against Bennett the same time he preferred charges against Charles Sweet. The Bennett transaction, it was alleged, did not occur at the same time as the Sweet incident. Sweet was acquitted by a jury. Mayor Bebout did not believe the evidence sufficient to constitute a sale.

INTERURBAN CAR BUMPS AUTOMOBILE

I. & C. Dispatch this Morning Slides Into Machine Driven by Oliver Siler of Jackson

OIL MAKES STOPPING HARD

An automobile driven by Oliver Siler, trustee of Jackson township, was hit by the west bound I. & C. dispatch, due here at 9:04 o'clock, this morning at the Perkins street crossing. The motorman had slowed down for the crossing and this perhaps saved Mr. Siler from serious injury. As it was, the heavy car just slid into the automobile and slightly damaged it. The hub cap on one of the front wheels was mashed. Mr. Siler was alone in the automobile and failed to see the car coming until he was almost on the track. He applied the brakes and the front wheels were on the track when it stopped. The oil on the track prevented the car from stopping as soon as it would have under other conditions. Mr. Siler remained in the machine.

LODGES OF STATE MEET IN GLENWOOD

P. O. S. of A. Order Will Hold Encampment There Starting Tonight—Drill Contest.

LOCAL TEAM IS AFTER PRIZE

The state meeting of the P. O. S. of A. lodge opens tonight and continues tomorrow in Glenwood. Visitors from every camp in the state are expected to attend and Glenwood has made great preparations to entertain the visitors. Because of the easy transportation facilities between this city and Glenwood practically every member of the Rushville lodge will attend. A prize drill contest will be held tonight in Mingle's hall. The Rushville degree team will contest for the prize. Joe Miller and Russell Barringer are the representatives to the meeting from the Rushville lodge. The annual election of officers will take place tomorrow afternoon, and the place of the next meeting will be decided.

Mr. and Mrs. George Davis and family have moved into the Carr property in West Seventh street.

The plasters completed their work at the Masonic temple late Saturday afternoon and the work of finishing the building is being carried on rapidly.

Dr. J. T. Blount who has been very ill for some time, will be operated on in Indianapolis tomorrow in an attempt to relieve his condition.

An appeal from Squire Kratzer's court to the circuit court has been taken in the case of Clell Maple against Lafayette Johnson. It is an account suit in which $45 is demanded.

Robert Marshall of Berry, Ky., who is visiting his son Walter, west of the city, reports the tobacco crop to be far below the standard in Kentucky. This is largely due to the shortage of rain in that state.

William A. Alexander and Will M. Sparks have filed a petition in the circuit court to be released from the bond of Henry T. Turner. Mr. Turner is the administrator of the estate of the late Julia Ann Turner and the plaintiffs are on his bond in the sum of $100.

Society News

The Tri Kappas will be entertained tonight by Miss Fanny Gregg at her home in Seventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. Bart Talbott of Indianapolis, well known here, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Hypathia, to George A. Martin. The wedding will take place the last of this month. Miss Hypathia often visits her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Marshall, here.

Miss Agnes Malady and O. S. White were quietly married at the Main Street Christian Church parsonage yesterday afternoon at four-thirty o'clock by the Rev. C. M. Yocum and departed at five o'clock for Indianapolis. They were expected back here some time today.

Miss Malady, together with her sister, Miss Ann Malady, came here last February from Anderson and opened a candy kitchen in Second street opposite the Winsor hotel. A short time ago Miss Agnes retired from the firm and Miss Ann took charge. Last week Miss Ann Malady returned to her home in Anderson and her sister became sole proprietor of the candy kitchen. She will continue to operate it.

Since coming here Miss Agnes Malady has become widely acquainted and she has a large coterie of friends who will be surprised to learn of her marriage. It was known to some of them as well as to some close friends of Mr. White that they were engaged. The wedding marked the close of a romance of a few months. Miss Malady is very popular in Anderson.

Mr. White came here about a year and a half ago and has been representing the Reliable Life Assurance company of Indianapolis. He has acquired a large circle of friends both in business relationship and in lodge connections. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias and Elks fraternal orders. Mr. White is a most enthusiastic Elk. He was in a great measure responsible for the success of the ball game given by the Elks recently. He was the moving spirit when arrangements for the games were made.

after a little while prices in meats will be downward. They argue that with commerce with Europe, if not cut off entirely, at least much curtailed, shipments of meat abroad will stop, with the result that meat intended for export will be thrown onto the market here at home. In addition, meat from Argentine and other South American countries, being without a market in Europe, will come to American ports. This increase in the supply, it would seem, would have the effect of lowering the prices.

There is a feeling that one European country, at least, will be able to keep trade moving between its ports and the United States. That country is England. She has sufficient navy to make her commerce on the Atlantic fairly secure. Furthermore, she does not seem to be starved out. Already she is in the market for everything she can buy in the way of food staples. Her purchases have already affected the sugar market, and they are likely to affect the prices of other staples in the same way.

A local business man made the prediction today that if the war continues a month, the war stamp, which was a familiar object in the days of the Spanish-American conflict, will again be seen in Rushville. The interruption of commerce for any considerable period will mean such a loss in revenue from imports that the imposition of an internal tax will be necessary. Although we are 5,000 miles away from the war, it looks like we would have to help pay for it. It is a piece of foolishness that is going to be expensive for the whole civilized world—if there is any such thing.

Amusements

The Gem will show a three real Rex feature "Swede Larson" for tonight's program. It is a beautiful picture, the scenes being laid in a lumber camp. Tomorrow night Florence Lawrence and Matt Moore will be seen in "The Doctor's Testimony."

The Princess offers a two reel Lubin feature "A Girl of the Cafe" for the first picture tonight. Velma Whitman is featured. It is said to tell a powerful story. Another Reason

As a specific instance of the reckless extravagance of the Tom Taggart-Crawford Fairbanks machine in the management of the last Indiana legislature the case of Charles Washington is cited.

Charles Washington, colored, for years has been Tom Taggart's personal servant. He was placed on the payroll of the last Democratic house and in the capacity of porter drew $450 from the public treasury.

$450 for 60 days is at the rate of $7.50 per day. This is somewhat higher than the average rate for porters paid by business men.

This is but another one of the reasons why your taxes are so high.

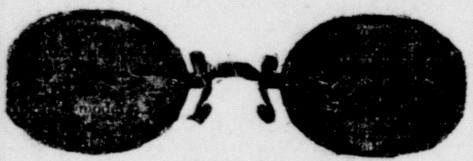

An Open Fact

The following is from the Hancock Democrat, one of the most influential Democratic newspapers in the state:

"It is an open and notorious fact that the last Indiana legislature will go down in history as one of the few that never did anything in the interest of the people at large. Its mission seems to have been to promote the interest of aspiring politicians in any manner to get there."

The paper might have added that the last Indiana legislature was overwhelmingly Democratic.

Doubtless he was conversant with the fact that Indiana, under Democratic rule is "broke" and realized that the day of his visit would be one of the few days in the year when there would be any real coin of the realm in the state treasury.

all Progressives are working for me.

"All the beauties of nature were created for me—and for you. For some people the world might as well be a cinder. So many people see the wondrous things of the world without ever appreciating them.

"All the people of the world belong to me and you, not exclusively, but in common. And life is yours. Life is the biggest thing in the world. The joy of living comes in serving. Some people wish they were dead, but they could not enjoy the melancholy wish if they were dead. Life is everything. We have life to enjoy, life to spend, life to live and—hear me young people—life to invest, and we ought to make much of it.

"And death, too, is ours. In a peculiar sense it belongs to the Christian. Someone says it is awful for a minister to say death is ours. When tears roll away we see more clearly. We shall see the dear friend has passed from all vices; we haven't. We shall see the dear one can not commit any more sins; we can. If our loved ones could speak to us from the skies, they would say, 'Weep for yourselves, not for me.'

"The Christian is sure of the future," the bishop said in conclusion. "Don't talk to me about a war cloud. That's the primeval come from hell. The heavens will rain mercy. Christ will win. The millennium will come. I don't know when, but it will come."

In the afternoon Bishop Shepard's lecture was on "The Falseness of God." He recalled that we hear much of the brotherhood nowadays, the brotherhood in labor unions where one brother is ready to take the life of another; the brotherhood of capitalists who are willing to grind a brother down to starvation; brotherhood in lodges and in churches, but brotherhood, he asserted, without the recognition of the fatherhood of God, is meaningless. It is without foundation, he continued, and though we may long for it,

we can not get it unless we have the fatherhood of God.

"Since God is our father—Jesus said so and let all men be false but Jesus be true—it does not matter very much what our condition here is," was his creed.

Col. Bob Seeds delighted a large audience Saturday afternoon. He said that he would stop any place to hear a story. If he were driving along a road, he said, and someone should yell, "Hey, Seed!" that put an end to his journey. His lecture gave weight to this assertion, because it was one funny story after another that kept the crowd laughing.

BABY ENTRY LIST GROWING RAPIDLY

More in Contest Now Than Were Expected up to the Time Limit.

All Mothers Urged to Enter

INVITATION NOT NECESSARY

More entries have been made in the better babies contest to be conducted in connection with the Rush county fair than were expected. Promoters of the contest say that more mothers have entered their children up to date than it was thought would ever be in the contest when the entries were closed. And there is more than a week left before the preliminary contest. A week from next Wednesday the examination of the children will be held at the Graham high school building and Thursday of the week following, fair week, the prizes will be awarded in the grand stand at the fair grounds.

Promoters of the contest urge that every mother knowing her child to have been born between September 1, 1912 and September 1, 1913 place it in the list. The county birth returns were used to get the list of eligible children, but many of the letters were returned because people have moved since their children were born. For this reason not every mother can be personally invited to enter her child. Besides many families having eligible children have moved into the county. All of the available nurses in the city have been employed and it is expected that some from out of the city will have to be retained.

Mrs. Lulu Shipley, of near Falmouth, was fined one dollar and costs by Squire Frank in Connorsville Saturday on the charge of pointing a deadly weapon at Mrs. Mary Theobald. The trial was held last Monday and the case taken under advisement. An appeal will be taken to the circuit court. It was alleged that Mrs. Shipley obtained a revolver from her son and threatened to kill Mrs. Theobald. The son pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons and paid a fine. The fine and costs amounted to $10.50.

German Counsellor at Washington

Points out That War Stories are Not from Berlin

A "SKIRMISH" AT LIEGE

Recalls That There Are no Dispatches Confirming Reports of the Engagements

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 10.—Haniel Von Haimhausen, counsellor and charge of the German embassy, returned from Newport, reopened the embassy here and immediately went to the department of state to confer with Secretary of State Bryan.

The counsellor said he had been cut off from all communication with his government for nearly a week and that he had made numerous efforts to communicate with Berlin, and had been baffled every time. His government has not acknowledged receipt of the United States' mediation proposal, he said.

"All of the news of this war is coming from London and Paris and Brussels, so that it is likely to be highly anti-German," said the counsellor. "I do not regard the fighting at Liege as anything more than a skirmish preparatory to the actual fighting which will take place later. It certainly cannot be looked upon as a German repulse. We have absolutely no dispatches confirming the reports of these engagements.

"I would be very glad to make them public if I had any dispatches, because I believe the American people would be glad to hear the German side of the war as well as the English side."

In a formal statement the secretary said:

"The German charge says that he feels sure the detention of foreigners in Germany is not due to any order forbidding them to leave, but due to the fact that all means of transportation are during mobilization employed by the government so that it is physically impossible for any foreigner to travel."

The German charge said he conferred with Counsellor Lanning, of the state department, to learn just how far the neutrality policy of the United States extended in regard to the mobilization and transportation of reserves in this country. He had read in the newspapers, he said, of the order issued yesterday by the de-fobidding clearance of ships carrying partment of commerce, practically ing reserves to fight in Europe.

British Admiralty Admits German Submarine U-15 was Sunk,
Probably in North Sea

(By United Press.)

London, Aug. 10.—Purposely not locating the scene of the encounter, the Admiralty today confirmed the sinking by the British cruiser squadron of the German submarine U-15. The fact that the official statement said the "main British cruiser fleet" had been attacked by the submarines was taken as proof positive that the battle occurred in the North Sea.

The admiralty said that the British fleet had suffered no damage from the submarines' attack.

The German submarine U-15 was a vessel of 300 tons and carried a crew of fifteen men. It is assumed that all were lost.

Mrs. William Merrill, 332 W. Fourth St., Rushville, Ind., says: "I suffered for quite awhile from weakness in my back. I had a dull pain over my kidneys, often accompanied by headaches. ARCADIANS WIN FROM HOOSIERS

Rushville Team Hits Hancock Hard and Newcastle Loses by One-Sided Score of 11 to 4

FIVE RUNS IN FIRST INNING

Heller, Backed up by Good Work in Field Comes Out Winner—Heavy Hitting Features

Rushville had an old score to settle with Newcastle and the way those Arcadians jumped on Hancock and the Hoosiers went a long way towards wiping out the defeats of years past. Hancock, a muchly touted pitcher, failed to show very much and the final count was 11 to 4.

The Arcadians outplayed the Hoosiers at all stages of the game and Hancock received a good drubbing. The game was too one-sided to be very interesting and about the only redeeming feature was the hitting of the Rushville crew and the fact that Newcastle was defeated.

Newcastle started out like they were going to make a run away game of it, scoring twice in the first after two were down. But this did not stop the Arcadians and they came back in their half and score five times. Five hits, two for extra bases and base balls resulted in the five runs counting. Hancock got a bad start and this in a way was responsible for his defeat. That five run lead seemed to take the life out of the Newcastle pitcher. He was wild through the game and issued seven bases on balls, besides three wild pitches. Hancock was also handicapped with the pitchers box. He has been pitching from a mound and could not get used to the Rushville grounds.

The team behind Hancock did not give him very good support and displayed good ball only in flashes. The Arcadians took advantage of every misplay and ran the bases wild. A decision by the umpire in the fourth started an argument which only added to the determination of the Arcadians. With two men out and Todd on third Heller grounded to Glancy. Glancy instead of touching the base attempted to touch Heller and Umps Poston called him safe. Glancy thinking the man was out, threw the ball towards the pitcher's box where it lay while the team came towards their bench. Newcastle put up a large yell but Poston stood firm. He allowed Todd to score and put Heller on first. The decision really would have made no difference in the final score, as Badel the next man up singled.

Newcastle was putting up a losing game and for the team to kick would be only natural. Poston, it is true, had an off day, but his decisions while they seemed to favor Rushville were not given with any malice towards Newcastle. The way the Arcadians played ball yesterday Newcastle could not have won with a dozen umpires on their side. It was a case of putting up a losing battle on a strange ground and a little chewing on the side thrown in. This is expected in baseball and the Newcastle team after the game stated that they were beaten by the team and not the umpire.

Ross started the battle for Newcastle by singling to center field. Wilson flew to Goodfellow. Smith was given a walk and Gissler flew to Hellmund. Then our old Rushville boy, Charles Stiers sent one of those famous liners of his along the third base line for two bases scoring Ross and Smith. Westover struck out.

Hancock was very unsteady in the opening inning. Badel was an easy out, Hancock to Glancy. Barton drew a walk. Long doubled to right field and was caught at third trying to stretch the hit into a tripple, Ross to Westover. Sandman was safe when Hancock fumbled his grounder. Goodfellow singled to right field. Hasselback doubled to right and Todd hit to right. Harry Ross was almost run ragged in right field. He was never in the right place to catch any of the balls that came his way.

Newcastle counted one more in the third and another in the fourth. In the third Heller had his worst inning and issued two passes and Gissler was there with the necessary hit. In the fourth the Hoosiers scored their last run and from this on out Heller pitched grand ball. Two scattered hits after the fourth was the best Newcastle could do. In the seventh Hancock tripped to center field but died on third. In the eighth, Smith struck out. Gissler singled, making his second hit of the day. Heller then fanned Stiers and Westover.

Hancock got out of one bad hole. In the 4th Rushville filled the bases but was unable to score. The Arcadians annexed two more runs in the seventh and three in the eighth. The heavy hitting came in the eighth. Hellmund led off with a double, Long was given a base on balls. Then Sandman connected for one of his long hits, getting a home run to center field. Goodfellow and Hasselback also singled. The Hoosiers fought gamely but the Arcadians were out for revenge and got it a plenty.

The game was late in starting due to one of the machines used in bringing the Newcastle team here breaking down near Mays. It was thirty when the game was called.

The Newcastle team does not appear to be as strong as last year and their pitcher is not another Romine by a long way. The team is either not as fast or else the Arcadians are greatly improved and the fans will say they are.

Hasselback, at short for Rushville, put up one fine game, accepting five chances without an error. They were all hard ones too and the way he handled them made the fans take notice.

Heller, not to be outdone by Hancock also hit for three bases and his hit also came in the seventh inning. With the hitting strength of the Arcadians the fans wonder why they did not get to Al Werner in the Connersville game. Manager Davidson says his team will get Werner next Sunday and the fans believe he is right.

The weather was very threatening which kept the attendance down. Newcastle thought Rushville was weak at the bat. There has only been one game in which the team failed to hit the ball and that was against Al Werner. Amos Byrd was pounded for seventeen hits and Ambrose Putmann received his bumps. The dope is all wrong about Rushville not having any hitters. Ask Hancock.

GOSNELL ILL; HORSE DRAWN

Veteran Campaigner Brought to His Home in Cambridge City Suffering From Stomach Trouble

DID NOT START SINGLE G.

Was Laid up in Detroit and Forced to Give up Driving—Operation May Be Necessary

(Special to the Daily Republican.) Cambridge City, Ind., Aug. 10.—Curt Gosney veteran campaigner of light harness race horses was brought home here last week from Lima, O., suffering with a severe attack of rheumatism and chronic stomach trouble.

Gosnell was laid up in Detroit after the opening of the Michigan short ship circuit and did not drive a race until week before last, in Lima, O., when he sent Single G, W. B. Barefoot's speedy three-year old, under the wire winner in straight heats of a $1,000 stake race, the seventh win in seven starts.

Since the evening of the same day Curt has been laid up in Lima, and with no one to drive the bay at Rockport in the big meeting that is being held at the Cleveland track.

Single G, entered in the 2:08 pace at Rockport and scheduled to run last week against Flower Direct and Doctor M, and a few others of the speeders did not start. It is the first race the gelding has been drawn. With Gosnell ill and no driver it was necessary to withdraw the animal.

Flower Direct won the 2:08 pace at Rockport in which Single G was entered. The contest between these two speeders were expected to be the feature of the meeting. The little mare took the race with the time at 2:06 1/2. Admirers of Single G believe that the gelding could have won in a race at that speed and are regretful that the animal was not sent in, believing that it could have lowered its own mark.

YOUNG CLEVINGER FOUND NOT GUILTY

Mayor Bebout Decides Evidence Does not Sustain Charge of Petit Larceny for Theft

HAMS NOT OFF PREMISES

Mayor Bebout found Charles Clevenger not guilty of the charge of petit larceny this morning after he had over-ruled a motion to quash made by the defendant's attorney, George Young. Clevenger was alleged to have taken two hams from the abattoir of the Weeks Fresh Meat and Provision company. The trial was held last Monday and ended with the filing of the motion to quash. The defense never introduced any evidence.

Under the evidence Mayor Bebout held that young Clevenger was not guilty of stealing the hams as they were not off the premises when found and there was no evidence to show he was seen taking them. The motion to quash was made on the grounds that the jurisdiction had not been established. Mayor Bebout also held that the law provides where there is no formal arraignment that the plea shall be not guilty, and this was the case with Clevenger, the records show that a trial was held and he was not guilty.

had been considered, but the impression in legislative circles is that a stamp tax will be imposed as in the Spanish-American war. Whiskey, beer and tobacco certainly, and possibly checks, mortgages and other legal documents will most likely be penalized for revenue raising purposes.

"There is no immediate need of passing an emergency taxation bill," said Underwood, "for there is a good surplus in the treasury now. But before the session ends, it is practically certain we will have to pass some sort of an emergency measure. Our imports necessarily will be greatly reduced by the war abroad but we can run along, probably for three or four months, without feeling the direct effect of the falling off. I have made no plans for raising additional revenue, although it is a matter which we are considering, of course."

Underwood called attention to the old law permitting the sale of Panama Canal bonds, but the Democratic party is against bond issues when they can be avoided, and although about $25,000,000 of such bonds might be sold, it is understood that a war tax is preferred by Democratic leaders.

Rough estimates are that the European war will reduce import revenues about one-third.

Austrian Warships' Bombardment of City in Montenegro Levels Forts After Heavy Firing

WITHDRAW FROM THE HARBOR

(By United Press.)

Paris, Aug. 10.—Details of the bombardment of Antivari, Montenegro, received here today, indicate that city's fortifications were utterly levelled by the destructive fire from Austrian warships.

Montenegrin troops attempted to reply with small arms and one of the Austrian cruisers then turned its fire on the city proper, destroying a number of houses. The naval station with all buildings was destroyed. The wireless towers were rendered useless, several being blown up by explosive shells. The city's electric lighting plant was badly damaged.

Montenegrins took refuge in the hills. The cruisers made no attempt to land men and after they had silenced the Montenegrin batteries and troops withdrew from the harbor.

Montenegrin troops continued their victorious march into Bosnia today capturing a number of cities.

CONGRESS IS ADJOURNED

Washington, Aug. 10.—The heavy hand of death hushed all official activity for the funeral of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. All Washington joined in the national requiem. Congress was adjourned, all government departments close and civilians suspended activity during the service in the East room of the White House at 2 o'clock.

No funeral music and no eulogy marked the ceremony, consisting only of the Presbyterian ritual—prayers and scripture reading. Rev. Sylvester W. Reach, Princeton pastor of the president and his family, and Rev. J. H. Taylor, of the president's church here, were the officiating clergymen. Simplicity—just as Mrs. Wilson desired—was the keynote.

Paris, France, August 10.—No fighting worthy the name of a real battle has yet taken place in Alsace. The total French loss in the capture of Altkirch from the Germans was only 100 killed and wounded. The armies are getting into place and a general engagement is believed impending. The French army from Belfort is believed moving in a huge fan formation from the Jura mountains on the Swiss border through all of Alsace to a point east of Colmar.

The Germans expect the French to invade Lorraine as is indicated by the official announcement that the Germans are trying to dam Seille river forming part of the Lorraine boundary.

FIGHTING ALONG FRONTIER

French are Successful in Lorraine and Germans are Driven Back in Southern Alsace

GERMANS HALT AT LIEGE

British War Minister Today Indicates he Expects Harder Fight. Second Volunteer Call

BULLETIN.

Paris, August 10.—France formally declared war on Austria tonight. The declaration follows the failures of the Austrian government to make satisfactory explanations of the movement of Austrian troops from the Austrian tyrol through Switzerland to the Alsacian border.

(By United Press.) London, August 10.—Alsace and Belgium monopolize the attention of the world today. In Belgium the lines are being rapidly drawn for the fiercest battle in modern times. The censorship is very tight but it is known that a great British and French army is mobilizing to aid the Belgians to retain Namur. Meanwhile there is fighting along the entire frontier of Lorraine, and the French are operating in force against the Germans in southern Alsace with uninterrupted success so far. The announcement that the battle fleet had sunk a German submarine U-15 has definitely located the British fleet. It must be somewhere near the German naval base at Heligoland. For the U-15 had a very limited steaming area and was designed for coast defense work exclusively. This means that the German war fleet is bottled up and that the British fleet is now constantly subject to attack by torpedo boats, destroyers and submarines. Not a single word is permitted to leak regarding the movements of the British troops but it is known many are now on the continent. Others are enroute in transport fleets, well escorted. They will be first heard from when they clash with the Germans in supporting the French and Belgians.

Announcement was made in the commons late today that Earl Kitchener, the minister of war, has ordered the enlistment of a second volunteer army of 100,000 men. This shows, at least, that Kitchener does not accept the early German reverses as indicating that Germany will be overwhelmed. Instead he looks

Prospects that the European conflict will be prolonged and that it will materially reduce for years to come, the imports of this country, make it necessary to adopt emergency measures for the raising of revenues. Majority Leader Underwood, author of the new tariff law, admits that the falling off in the imports from Europe will be such that congress must begin to think of other means of bringing in money. Underwood said today that no definite plan

French and Belgian Cavalry, Supported by Artillery and Infantry, Attack Army of Meuse

PENETRATE ENEMIES LINE

Fighting at Liege, Where Germans Occupy City, Today Consists in Long-Range Artillery Duel

(By United Press.) Brussels, August 10.—The war office announced at six o'clock tonight that reports of the fall of Liege were absolutely untrue. "All forts about Liege are still intact," it says, "and can hold out indefinitely. The allied French-Belgian army is advancing, driving Germans before it. Germans in Liege are unable to advance southward because forts command roads. Allied troops are also moving to attack German reinforcements coming from Cologne."

(By United Press.)

Brussels, August 10.—French and Belgian cavalry supported, by field artillery and mounted infantry, are today attacking the German army north of the Meuse. They are reported here to have penetrated the German line of communication at several points, torn up bridges and destroyed the railroad tracks so that the German army corps at Liege are in danger of being cut off.

Fighting at Liege itself, the war office says, is confined to a long range artillery duel between the forts of the fortifications. The Germans have abandoned the plan of carrying the forts by storm. They claim here the forts can hold out indefinitely as they are well supplied with food and ammunition.

Communications with Liege is still interrupted although it is admitted the city is now held by the Germans. The forts are still held by the Belgians, according to the war office and can hold out indefinitely.

Despite this confident claim, rumors are in circulation that some at least of the forts have been taken by the enemy.

The main body of the Belgian army which was at Liege withdrew successfully. Its position is not announced but it is supposed to have fallen back on Namur where British and French reinforcements were reported to have been waiting.

General Von Emmich, in command of the German army of the Meuse was among the first to enter Liege. He was escorted by a large detachment of cavalry and the first act was to proclaim the city of Liege. The general then issued a proclamation declaring that any further participation in the fighting by Belgians not affiliated with the army would be followed by their execution and the burning of their homes.

Most of the Belgian residents of Liege had already fled, having realized almost from the outset of the fighting that the capture of the city was a certainty.

That the German advance will clash with the main defense at Namur almost immediately is certain. An enormous German army is concentrating for this purpose but its movements are cloaked by a cavalry screen that is operating in the territory between Liege and Namur.

The Belgian officials say all of the forts still hold out against the invaders. They are compelled to operate independently and can no longer figure materially in opposing the German advance. It is expected that a German force will besiege them while

Postlude by the Oxfords, Popular Quartet, Brings Chautauqua to Pleasant End Sunday Night.

LECTURES BY W. O. SHEPARD

His Creed is That all Things Are Held in Common and That Man's Title to Goods is Worthless

IS AHEAD FINANCIALLY

It is stated today that the Rush county chautauqua will come out ahead between $100 and $200 this year. With two exceptions, band day and the closing day, the crowds were better than last year. There were not so many season tickets sold this year, which reduced the proceeds from that source. Next year there will be twenty more guarantors, each to take ten tickets each. This will bring the total of guarantors' tickets issued up to twelve hundred.

The Rush county chautauqua closed last night with a lecture by Bishop W. O. Shepard of St. Louis and a postlude by the Oxfords, a mixed quartet which made a most pronounced impression during its two days stay here. The Coliseum was packed last night, but in the afternoon seats were not at a premium. Rain threatened all afternoon and probably kept many people away.

The Oxfords are one of the most popular musical organizations ever at the chautauqua. The best testimonial to their popularity was the number of requests made yesterday for the repetition of numbers sung Saturday. They attracted the largest Saturday night crowd ever at the chautauqua when they sang a version of the light opera "The Mikado."

Bishop Shepard spoke last night on "Unlimited Riches." He asserted that all things God made are ours and that riches do not pertain to worldly goods. He declared that we have joint ownership in all things. Bishop Shepard began by saying that he had investigated suicide statistics lately and found that out of every 100 people dying, one is a suicide and that there is one suicide for every hour in the day.

"I find there are many people," he continued, "who think they are poor in health, opportunity, friends or worldly goods. No one is poor unless he chooses to be. All of us are rich and well to do. Everything God made is ours and if we are unhappy or poor, it is our own fault. We have an idea that all we own is what man gives us title to. But man's titles may burn up or blow away. In poor, distracted Mexico some men, it is said, own titles to as much as two and a half million acres of land. What good is it? Can he eat it? No. Can he walk over it? No. Can he see it? No. The title man gives you is fictitious."

"The best things in this world we never own exclusively. We own them in common. Every sermon preached by every minister of every denomination is for me and for you. All people are working for me—and for you. All reformers are working for me—and for you, that is if I care for civilization than I do my personal affairs, and I do. The Republicans are working for me (It may be a little hard for me to say some of these things but I guess I can) all Democrats are working for me, and

WAR HAS EFFECT OF FOOD STAPLES

Marked Increase is Noted Already Because of Conflict on Other Side of Atlantic

COFFEE AND BEANS ARE UP

Price of Sugar Jumps Ninety Cents a Hundred and Spring Wheat Flour is Costlier

The first effect on the price of foodstuffs as the result of the European war is being felt in Rushville right now. The prediction that a general war across the Atlantic would cause a raise in the price of food staples on this side is being fulfilled.

Compared with the prices the same time last week, sugar, coffee, beans and spring wheat flour are higher. The first marked jump came when local grocers received word from wholesalers that all coffee, whether bulk or package, had advanced. Today it is one to two cents a pound higher than it was last week. The high grade coffee is a cent higher and the lower grades two cents.

That there will be further advances soon, is the expectation, as trade reports state that coffee growers are holding the grain they have on hands from five to ten cents higher than they were holding it a week ago.

Another staple that has jumped in price is the bean. All over the world beans are a standard army ration. Beans always go up in war times. Beans are up now, and that they will go much higher is practically certain. The price of beans in this part of the world is controlled by the Michigan Bean Association. This organization has withdrawn quotations on beans. The wholesaler has to buy subject to whatever price may prevail at the time of delivery. The chances are that every grocery store in Rushville will have made a considerable advance in the price of beans before another week passes. The price is now 75 cents a bushel higher than last week.

Sugar, too, is certain to be higher. Quotations on beet sugar have been withdrawn. This was due to the action of England in going into the market and buying everything in sight. England was bidding $5.10 for raw material—unrefined sugar in bags—on the piers in New York. While sugar has advanced here only ten points, it has advanced in New York sixty points. The increase to local grocers is 90 cents a hundred pounds.

As yet there has been no advance in rice. It is the one staple that shows a disposition to remain steady. Flour is showing a tendency to do some ballooning, and meat is manifesting the same sort of symptoms. Meat dealers, however, believe that

If Report is True it Marks as Desperate Attempt as Was Gallop
of Uhlans into Liege

40,000 SOLDIERS IN FINLAND

Unless to Incite Revolt, Unusual Trip
of Kaiser's Men Can Not be Accounted for

BY J. W. T. MASON

(Former European Manager of the United Press.)

New York, Aug. 10.—The sensational possibility that Germany has began an attempt to entice Finland
into a revolt against Russia, is contained in the report from Copenhagen that 40,000 German troops
have landed at Ekenas, in Southern Finland.

If the report is true, it marks as desperate a resolve on the part of
the Kaiser as was the daring gallop
of the Uhlans into Liege to try to capture the Belgian commander. Forty thousand German soldiers in Finland means a transport journey
of 400 miles across the Baltic sea
with constant danger that British or Russian naval activity will cut the line of communication and isolate
the invaders.

The risk would be too great, and
the force itself too small, if the German general staff contemplated attacking St. Petersburg through Finland. But if the Kaiser has reason to believe the Finns will help him
against their Russian oppressors, his
movement of an army corps into Finland becomes inexplicable.

Should the news be true, doubtless
we shall soon hear of a German proclamation promising independence to Finland if the Finns come to the Kaiser's support. An uprising in Finland would be of enormous military
value to Germany but if the Germans
lost the war, the liberties Finland
already possesses would be lost as
well.

False reports of the capture of Liege, carried by other news services are due to correspondents mis-
taking street fighting in the city in the presence of the entire German
army. A few isolated detachments
of Germans occasionally are able to
pass between the forts that circle
Liege, four to six miles beyond the city. A rush into Liege by the remainder of a regiment devastated by the forts entails hand-to-hand fighting
that must send forth the cry:

"The Germans are in." By the time the alarm reaches America it
has been elaborated in some cases
into the capture of the city.

The massed attack of the Germans
on the Liege forts is described truly
as "an act of heroism" in the official
German account of the Liege operations. But the German General staff
is far from the truth in character-
izing the attack as "unique."

During the South African war, the British troops used the same methods in what were called "frontal" attacks. The Boers without modern weapons, and with only Kopjers for their fortresses, drove the British
back time and again. The Belgians
in nickel steel forts, directing six
inch and 9.7 inch guns against the Germans, are but modernizing the tactics of the late South African burgh-
ers. The enormous importance of the capture of Liege to Germany's plan of campaign is indicated by the
desperate duplication of Great Britain's fatal assaults against the Boer kopjers.

CHILDREN TO BE IN BATTLE LINE

Will be Prepared October to Make
Combined Assault of Vantage

DISEASE PREVENTION DAY

State Superintendent Calls Attention to Plans in Letter to School
Superintendents

Indianapolis, August 10.—An

army of school children, three times
the size of Serbia's armed forces,
will form in battle line in Indiana,
Friday, October 2nd and make a
combined assault on the vantage
points held by their enemy, Disease,
according to plans outlined today
by the Department of Public Instruction.

In a letter to school superintendents throughout the state, Charles
A. Greathouse, superintendent of Public Instruction, calls attention
to the plans that are being made for
a state wide demonstration on Disease Prevention Day, Friday October 2nd.

Mr. Greathouse refers to the spectacular demonstrations held in Anderson and Princeton a few months ago in which the school children
played such an important part and
he urges all school authorities to cooperate to the fullest extent with local committees which may be arranging similar demonstrations. His letter reads as follows:

The Department of Public Instruction desires to call your attention to the fact that on Friday, October 2nd, Indiana will observe "Disease Prevention Day."

On that day hundreds of cities and towns in this state will stage spectacular public demonstrations aimed
at preventable disease. In many instances, no doubt, the local committees in charge of the affair will desire to put on a parade or pageant.
Floats which will present interesting pictures of the various phases of the health problem, will of course be entered in these pageants.

On similar occasions at Anderson
and Princeton last spring the schools
took an important part. In many instances the pupils formed part of
the display on the floats. In each
city, thousands of grade and high school students marched by divisions
carrying banners, pennants, placards
etc., which bore printed lessons on
the necessity for conserving the public health.

In view of the expressed wish of the executive committee in charge
of this state wide demonstration, we
ask that you co-operate to the fullest extent with your local committee
to the end that the schools in your
city make a creditable showing.
With very little difficulty, your pupils
can be marshalled for the parade.
Their presence in the parade will accomplish a two-fold object. It will center their interest on the methods
to be employed for the conservation
attracting their parents to view the
parade.

It is our understanding that the
day in question will be made a public holiday both by proclamation of the Governor and by the Mayor of your city. The merchants will be asked to make special displays in honor of the occasion. As a further suggestion, you might have some
special exercises on preventable disease in the school rooms either before or after the parade. What do you think about it?

Cordially yours,
(CHAS. A. GREATHOUSE.)

INTERURBAN CAR BUMPS AUTOMOBILE

I. & C. Dispatch this Morning Slides Into Machine Driven by Oliver Siler of Jackson

OIL MAKES STOPPING HARD

An automobile driven by Oliver Siler, trustee of Jackson township, was hit by the west bound I. & C. dispatch, due here at 9:04 o'clock, this morning at the Perkins street crossing. The motorman had slowed down for the crossing and this perhaps saved Mr. Siler from serious injury. As it was, the heavy car just slid into the automobile and slightly damaged it. The hub cap on one of the front wheels was mashed.

Mr. Siler was alone in the automobile and failed to see the car coming until he was almost on the track. He applied the brakes and the front wheels were on the track when it stopped. The oil on the track prevented the car from stopping as soon as it would have under other conditions. Mr. Siler remained in the machine.

The annual election of officers will take place tomorrow afternoon, and the place of the next meeting will be decided.

Society News

The Tri Kappas will be entertained tonight by Miss Fanny Gregg at her home in Seventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. Bart Talbott of Indianapolis, well known here, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Hypathia, to George A. Martin. The wedding will take place the last of this month. Miss Hypathia often visits her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Marshall, here.

Miss Agnes Malady and O. S. White were quietly married at the Main Street Christian Church parsonage yesterday afternoon at four-thirty o'clock by the Rev. C. M. Yocum and departed at five o'clock for Indianapolis. They were expected back here some time today.

Miss Malady, together with her sister, Miss Ann Malady, came here last February from Anderson and opened a candy kitchen in Second street opposite the Winsor hotel. A short time ago Miss Agnes retired from the firm and Miss Ann took charge. Last week Miss Ann Malady returned to her home in Anderson and her sister became sole proprietor of the candy kitchen. She will continue to operate it.

Since coming here Miss Agnes Malady has become widely acquainted and she has a large coterie of friends who will be surprised to learn of her marriage. It was known to some of them as well as to some close friends of Mr. White that they were engaged. The wedding marked the close of a romance of a few months. Miss Malady is very popular in Anderson.

Mr. White came here about a year and a half ago and has been representing the Reliable Life Assurance company of Indianapolis. He has acquired a large circle of friends both in business relationship and in lodge connections. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias and Elks fraternal orders. Mr. White is a most enthusiastic Elk. He was in a great measure responsible for the success of the ball game given by the Elks recently. He was the moving spirit when arrangements for the games were made.

after a little while prices in meats will be downward. They argue that with commerce with Europe, if not cut off entirely, at least much curtailed, shipments of meat abroad will stop, with the result that meat intended for export will be thrown onto the market here at home. In addition, meat from Argentine and other South American countries, being without a market in Europe, will come to American ports. This increase in the supply, it would seem, would have the effect of lowering the prices.

There is a feeling that one European country, at least, will be able to keep trade moving between its ports and the United States. That country is England. She has sufficient navy to make her commerce on the Atlantic fairly secure. Furthermore, she does not seem to be starved out. Already she is in the market for everything she can buy in the way of food staples. Her purchases have already affected the sugar market, and they are likely to affect the prices of other staples in the same way.

A local business man made the prediction today that if the war continues a month, the war stamp, which was a familiar object in the days of the Spanish-American conflict, will again be seen in Rushville. The interruption of commerce for any considerable period will mean such a loss in revenue from imports that the imposition of an internal tax will be necessary. Although we are 5,000 miles away from the war, it looks like we would have to help pay for it. It is a piece of foolishness that is going to be expensive for the whole civilized world—if there is any such thing.

A False Standard of Culture

has gained ground in this century which looks upon bearing and rearing of children as something coarse and vulgar and to be avoided, but the advent of Eugenics means much for the motherhood of the race. Happy is the wife who, though weak and ailing, depends upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore her to health, and when headaches and backaches are a thing of the past, brave sons and fair daughters rise up and call her blessed.

Another Reason

As a specific instance of the reckless extravagance of the Tom Taggart-Crawford Fairbanks machine in the management of the last Indiana legislature the case of Charles Washington is cited.

Charles Washington, colored, for years has been Tom Taggart's personal servant. He was placed on the payroll of the last Democratic house and in the capacity of porter drew $450 from the public treasury.

$450 for 60 days is at the rate of $7.50 per day. This is somewhat higher than the average rate for porters paid by business men.

This is but another one of the reasons why your taxes are so high.

An Open Fact

The following is from the Hancock Democrat, one of the most influential Democratic newspapers in the state:

"It is an open and notorious fact that the last Indiana legislature will go down in history as one of the few that never did anything in the interest of the people at large. Its mission seems to have been to promote the interest of aspiring politicians in any manner to get there."

The paper might have added that the last Indiana legislature was overwhelmingly Democratic.

Talk about a manifestation of wisdom! A robber visited the office of the treasurer of Indiana the next day after the Democratic board of finance had borrowed $300,000 with which to meet the current expenses of the state. Doubtless he was conversant with the fact that Indiana, under Democratic rule is "broke" and realized that the day of his visit would be one of the few days in the year when there would be any real coin of the realm in the state treasury.

All Progressives are working for me. "All the beauties of nature were created for me—and for you. For some people the world might as well be a cinder. So many people see the wondrous things of the world without ever appreciating them.

"All the people of the world belong to me and you, not exclusively, but in common. And life is yours. Life is the biggest thing in the world. The joy of living comes in serving. Some people wish they were dead, but they could not enjoy the melancholy wish if they were dead. Life is everything. We have life to enjoy, life to spend, life to live and—hear me young people—life to invest, and we ought to make much of it.

"And death, too, is ours. In a peculiar sense it belongs to the Christian. Someone says it is awful for a minister to say death is ours. When tears roll away we see more clearly. We shall see the dear friend has passed from all vices; we haven't. We shall see the dear one can not commit any more sins; we can. If our loved ones could speak to us from the skies, they would say, 'Weep for yourselves, not for me.'

"The Christian is sure of the future," the bishop said in conclusion. "Don't talk to me about a war cloud. That's the primal evil come from hell. The heavens will rain mercy. Christ will win. The millennium will come. I don't know when, but it will come."

In the afternoon Bishop Shepard's lecture was on "The Falseness of God." He recalled that we hear much of the brotherhood nowadays, the brotherhood in labor unions where one brother is ready to take the life of another; the brotherhood of capitalists who are willing to grind a brother down to starvation; brotherhood in lodges and in churches, but brotherhood, he asserted, without the recognition of the fatherhood of God, is meaningless. It is without foundation, he continued, and though we may long for it,

we can not get it unless we have the fatherhood of God.

"Since God is our father—Jesus said so and let all men be false but Jesus be true—it does not matter very much what our condition here is," was his creed.

Col. Bob Seeds delighted a large audience Saturday afternoon. He said that he would stop any place to hear a story. If he were driving along a road, he said, and someone should yell, "Hey, Seed!" that put an end to his journey. His lecture gave weight to this assertion, because it was one funny story after another that kept the crowd laughing.

BABY ENTRY LIST GROWING RAPIDLY

More in Contest Now Than Were Expected up to the Time Limit.

All Mothers Urged to Enter

More entries have been made in the better babies contest to be conducted in connection with the Rush county fair than were expected. Promoters of the contest say that more mothers have entered their children up to date than it was thought would ever be in the contest when the entries were closed. And there is more than a week left before the preliminary contest. A week from next Wednesday the examination of the children will be held at the Graham high school building and Thursday of the week following, fair week, the prizes will be awarded in the grand stand at the fair grounds.

Promoters of the contest urge that every mother knowing her child to have been born between September 1, 1912 and September 1, 1913 place it in the list. The county birth returns were used to get the list of eligible children, but many of the letters were returned because people have moved since their children were born. For this reason not every mother can be personally invited to enter her child. Besides many families having eligible children have moved into the county. All of the available nurses in the city have been employed and it is expected that some from out of the city will have to be retained.

SAYS NEWS IS ANTI-GERMAN

German Counsellor at Washington

Points out That War Stories are Not from Berlin

A "SKIRMISH" AT LIEGE

Recalls That There Are no Dispatches Confirming Reports of the Engagements

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 10.—Haniel Von Haimhausen, counsellor and charge of the German embassy, returned from Newport, reopened the embassy here and immediately went to the department of state to confer with Secretary of State Bryan.

The counsellor said he had been cut off from all communication with his government for nearly a week and that he had made numerous efforts to communicate with Berlin, and had been baffled every time. His government has not acknowledged receipt of the United States' mediation proposal, he said.

"All of the news of this war is coming from London and Paris and Brussels, so that it is likely to be highly anti-German" said the counsellor. "I do not regard the fighting at Liege as anything more than a skirmish preparatory to the actual fighting which will take place later. It certainly cannot be looked upon as a German repulse. We have absolutely no dispatches confirming the reports of these engagements.

"I would be very glad to make them public if I had any dispatches, because I believe the American people would be glad to hear the German side of the war as well as the English side."

In a formal statement the secretary said:

"The German charge says that he feels sure the detention of foreigners in Germany is not due to any order forbidding them to leave, but due to the fact that all means of transportation are during mobilization employed by the government so that it is physically impossible for any foreigner to travel."

The German charge said he conferred with Counsellor Lanning, of the state department, to learn just how far the neutrality policy of the United States extended in regard to the mobilization and transportation of reserves in this country. He had read in the newspapers, he said, of the order issued yesterday by the forbidding clearance of ships carrying armaments, practically ing reserves to fight in Europe.

British Admiralty Admits German Submarine U-15 was Sunk, Probably in North Sea

(By United Press.)

London, Aug. 10.—Purposely not leaving the scene of the encounter, the Admiralty today confirmed the sinking by the British cruiser squadron of the German submarine U-15. The fact that the official statement said the "main British cruiser fleet" had been attacked by the submarines was taken as proof positive that the battle occurred in the North Sea.

The admiralty said that the British fleet had suffered no damage from the submarines' attack.

The German submarine U-15 was a vessel of 300 tons and carried a crew of fifteen men. It is assumed that all were lost.

ARCADIANS WIN FROM HOOSIERS

Rushville Team Hits Hancock Hard and Newcastle Loses by One-Sided Score of 11 to 4

FIVE RUNS IN FIRST INNING

Heller, Backed up by Good Work in Field Comes Out Winner—Heavy Hitting Features

Rushville had an old score to settle with Newcastle and the way those Arcadians jumped on Hancock and the Hoosiers went a long way towards wiping out the defeats of years past. Hancock, a muchly touted pitcher, failed to show very much and the final count was 11 to 4. The Arcadians outplayed the Hoosiers at all stages of the game and Hancock received a good drubbing. The game was too one-sided to be very interesting and about the only redeeming feature was the hitting of the Rushville crew and the fact that Newcastle was defeated.

Newcastle started out like they were going to make a run away game of it, scoring twice in the first after two were down. But this did not stop the Arcadians and they came back in their half and score five times. Five hits, two for extra bases and base balls resulted in the five runs counting. Hancock got a bad start and this in a way was responsible for his defeat. That five run lead seemed to take the life out of the Newcastle pitcher. He was wild through the game and issued seven bases on balls, besides three wild pitches. Hancock was also handicapped with the pitchers box. He has been pitching from a mound and could not get used to the Rushville grounds.

The team behind Hancock did not give him very good support and displayed good ball only in flashes. The Arcadians took advantage at every misplay and ran the bases wild. A decision by the umpire in the fourth started an argument which only added to the determination of the Arcadians. With two men out and Todd on third Heller grounded to Glaney. Glaney instead of touching the base attempted to touch Heller and Ump Poston called him safe. Glaney thinking the man was out, threw the ball towards the pitcher's box where it lay while the team came towards their bench. Newcastle put up a large yell but Poston stood firm. He allowed Todd to score and put Heller on first. The decision really would have made no difference in the final score, as Badel the next man up singled.

Newcastle was putting up a losing game and for the team to kick would be only natural. Poston, it is true, had an off day, but his decisions while they seemed to favor Rushville were not given with any malice towards Newcastle. The way the Arcadians played ball yesterday Newcastle could not have won with a dozen umpires on their side. It was a case of putting up a losing battle on a strange ground and a little chewing on the side thrown in. This is expected in baseball and the Newcastle team after the game stated that they were beaten by the team and not the umpire.

Ross started the battle for Newcastle by singling to center field. Wilson flew to Goodfellow. Smith was given a walk and Gissler flew to Helmund. Then our old Rushville boy, Charles Stiers sent one of those famous liners of his along the third base line for two bases scoring Ross and Smith. Westover struck out.

Hancock was very musty in the opening inning. Badel was an easy out. Hancock to Glaney. Barton drew a walk. Long doubled to right field and was caught at third trying to stretch the hit into a tripple, Ross to Westover. Sandman was safe when Hancock fumbled his grounder. Goodfellow singled to right field. Hasselback doubled to right and Todd hit to right. Harry Ross was almost run ragged in right field. He was never in the right place to catch any of the balls that came his way. Newcastle counted one more in the third and another in the fourth. In the third Heller had his worst inning and issued two passes and Gissler was there with the necessary hit. In the fourth the Hoosiers scored their last run and from this on out Heller pitched grand ball. Two scattered hits after the fourth was the best Newcastle could do. In the seventh Hancock tripped to center field but died on third. In the eighth, Smith struck out. Gissler singled, making his second hit of the day. Heller then fanned Stiers and Westover.

Hancock got out of one bad hole. In the 4th Rushville filled the bases but was unable to score. The Arcadians annexed two more runs in the seventh and three in the eighth. The heavy hitting came in the eighth. Helmund led off with a double, Long was given a base on balls. Then Sandman connected for one of his long hits, getting a home run to center field. Goodfellow and Hasselback also singled. The Hoosiers fought gamely but the Arcadians were out for revenge and got it a plenty.

The game was late in starting due to one of the machines used in bringing the Newcastle team here breaking down near Mays. It was thirty-three when the game was called.

The Newcastle team does not appear to be as strong as last year and their pitcher is not another Roming by a long way. The team is either not as fast or else the Arcadians are greatly improved and the fans will say they are.

Hasselback, at short for Rushville, put up one fine game, accepting five chances without an error. They were all hard ones too and the way he handled them made the fans take notice.

Heller, not to be outdone by Hancock also hit for three bases and his hit also came in the seventh inning.

With the hitting strength of the Arcadians the fans wonder why they did not get to Al Werner in the Commersville game. Manager Davidson says his team will get Werner next Sunday and the fans believe he is right.

The weather was very threatening which kept the attendance down.

Newcastle thought Rushville was weak at the bat. There has only been one game in which the team failed to hit the ball and that was against Al Werner. Amos Byrd was pounded for seventeen hits and Ambrose Putnam received his bumps. The dope is all wrong about Rushville not having any hitters. Ask Hancock.

GOSNELL ILL; HORSE DRAWN

Veteran Campaigner Brought to His Home in Cambridge City Suffering From Stomach Trouble

DID NOT START SINGLE G.

Was Laid up in Detroit and Forced to Give up Driving—Operation May Be Necessary

(Special to the Daily Republican.) Cambridge City, Ind., Aug. 10.—Curt Gosnoll, veteran campaigner of light harness race horses was brought home here last week from Lima, O., suffering with a severe attack of rheumatism and chronic stomach trouble.

Gosnell was laid up in Detroit after the opening of the Michigan short ship circuit and did not drive a race until week before last, in Lima, O., when he sent Single G, W. B. Barefoot's speedy three-year old, under the wire winner in straight heats of a $1,000 stake race, the seventh win in seven starts.

Since the evening of the same day Curt has been laid up in Lima, and with no one to drive the bay at Rockport in the big meeting that is being held at the Cleveland track.

Single G, entered in the 2:08 pace at Rockport and scheduled to run last week against Flower Direct and Doctor M. and a few others of the speedsters did not start. It is the first race he gelding has been drawn. With Gosnell ill and no driver it was necessary to withdraw the animal.

Flower Direct won the 2:08 pace at Rockport in which Single G was entered. The contest between these two speedsters were expected to be the feature of the meeting. The little mare took the race with the time at 2:06 1/2. Admirers of Single G believe that the gelding could have won in a race at that speed and are regretful that the animal was not sent in, believing that it could have lowered its own mark.

YOUNG CLEVINGER FOUND NOT GUILTY

Mayor Behout Decides Evidence Does not Sustain Charge of Petit Larceny for Theft

HAMS NOT OFF PREMISES

Mayor Behout found Charles Clevenger not guilty of the charge of petit larceny this morning after he had over-ruled a motion to quash made by the defendant's attorney, George Young. Clevenger was alleged to have taken two hams from the abattoir of the Weeks Fresh Meat and Provision company. The trial was held last Monday and ended with the filing of the motion to quash. The defense never introduced any evidence.

Under the evidence Mayor Behout held that young Clevenger was not guilty of stealing the hams as they were not off the premises when found and there was no evidence to show he was seen taking them. The motion to quash was made on the grounds that the jurisdiction had not been established. Mayor Behout also held that the law provides where there is no formal arraignment that the plea shall be not guilty, and this was the case with Clevenger, the records show that a trial was held and he was not guilty.

EXQUISITE ACCESSORIES

It is the beautiful little novelties that are not an inherent part of a costume, that give to a lady's dress an individuality of tone and color that distinguish it from the mediocre. One who is wise, is more critical in the selection of these little touches than in the choice of the costume itself.

We are pleased to announce the arrival of a splendid selection of the market's latest contributions to the field of accessories, and now is the most opportune time to look them over.

Included in this unusual showing are beautiful girdles, belts, collars, beauty pin sets, bar pins, barrettes, combs, chains, beads, crosses, hearts, hat pins, mesh bags, vanities, earrings, vests, ties and cords.

had been considered, but the impression in legislative circles is that a stamp tax will be imposed as in the Spanish-American war. Whiskey, beer and tobacco certainly, and possibly checks, mortgages and other legal documents will most likely be taxed for revenue raising purposes.

"There is no immediate need of passing an emergency taxation bill," said Underwood, "for there is a good surplus in the treasury now. But before the session ends, it is practically certain we will have to pass some sort of an emergency measure. Our imports necessarily will be greatly reduced by the war abroad but we can run along, probably for three or four months, without feeling the direct effect of the falling off. I have made no plans for raising additional revenue, although it is a matter which we are considering, of course."

Underwood called attention to the old law permitting the sale of Panama Canal bonds, but the Democratic party is against bond issues when they can be avoided, and although about $25,000,000 of such bonds might be sold, it is understood that a war tax is preferred by Democratic leaders.

Rough estimates are that the European war will reduce import revenue about one-third.

After Heavy Firing

WITHDRAW FROM THE HARBOR

(By United Press.)

Paris, Aug. 10.—Details of the bombardment of Antivari, Montenegro, received here today, indicate that city's fortifications were utterly levelled by the destructive fire from Austrian warships.

Montenegrin troops attempted to reply with small arms and one of the Austrian cruisers then turned its fire on the city proper, destroying a number of houses. The naval station with all buildings was destroyed. The wireless towers were rendered useless, several being blown up by explosive shells. The city's electric lighting plant was badly damaged.

Montenegrins took refuge in the hills. The cruisers made no attempt to land men and after they had silenced the Montenegrin batteries and troops withdrew from the harbor.

Montenegrin troops continued their victorious march into Bosnia today capturing a number of cities.

DEATH RUSHES ACTIVITY TODAY

CONGRESS IS ADJOURNED

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 10.—The heavy hand of death rushed off official activity for the funeral of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. All Washington joined in the national requiem. Congress was adjourned, all government departments close and civilians suspended activity during the service in the East room of the White House at 2 o'clock.

No funeral music and no eulogy marked the ceremony, consisting only of the Presbyterian ritual, prayers and scripture reading. Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, Princeton pastor of the president and his family, and Rev. J. H. Taylor, of the president's church here, were the officiating clergymen. Simplicity—just as Mrs. Wilson desired—was the keynote.

The Liege garrison with its reinforcements retreated, the war office says, for strategic reasons. The check to Germany has enabled France to get her reinforcements in position and Germany will have to fight every inch of the Belgian territory advancing south.

BUILDS DAMS IN SEILLE RIVER

Paris, France, August 10.—

No fighting worthy the name of a real battle has yet taken place in Alsace. The total French loss in the capture of Alstich from the Germans was only 100 killed and wounded. The studies are getting into place and a general engagement is believed impending. The French army from Belgium is ordered moving in a large formation from the Jura mountains on the Swiss border through all of Alsace to a point east of Colmar.

The Germans expect the French to invade Lorraine as is indicated by the official announcement that 10 Germans are trying to dam the Scelle river forming part of the Lorraine boundary.

German troops are moving on France through Luxembourg.

Eight Austrian regiments are reported to have violated the neutrality of Switzerland and to be now on the Alsace border preparing to attack the French flank. The foreign office has demanded a declaration of Austria's intention. None has been made.
